Silvaco again rallies members of the semiconductor IP ecosystem to celebrate at DAC 2019

Santa Clara, California – May 21, 2019 – Silvaco, Inc. today announced collaboration with key players in the semiconductor intellectual property (IP) ecosystem to host the Seventh annual Stars of IP party at Topgolf Las Vegas, on the evening of Tuesday, June 4, 2019. The event coincides with the 56th Design Automation Conference (DAC), which takes place June 2 – 6 at the Las Vegas Convention Center.

The Stars of IP event fosters networking and forges closer ties among IP provider companies, partners, and users to strengthen the semiconductor ecosystem. The success of the inaugural event at DAC 2013 in Austin, and subsequent years, has established Stars of IP as a premier event at DAC and one of the most desired tickets at each year's conference.

"This 7th Stars of IP party is going to be the best one so far," said Jai Durgam, General Manager of Silvaco's IP Division. "This premier networking events for IP companies and their customers will take place at an amazing four-level venue in Las Vegas. I look forward to an evening of fun as we come together once again to celebrate IP's importance in the semiconductor industry."

This year's Stars of IP party co-hosts represent all corners of the IP ecosystem, from providers to industry partners and organizations: Agile Analog, Avery Design Systems, CAST, Flex Logix, Menta, Mobiveil, Omni Design, Samsung Foundry, Silicon Creations, Silvaco, Synopsys. Together, the co-hosts will invite over 300 of their best customers and partners to enjoy the party.
